

- Notes: Often issued as a large multi-sheet folio map. The 1752 edition was published under the auspices of the Académie Royale des Sciences and Duke of Orléans, standardizing the Chickasaw Bluffs sequence.
- Jacques-Nicolas Bellin (1744 / 1750 / 1764) — Mississippi River charts and regional maps
 - Search terms / Variants: Bellin, "Carte de la Louisiane, cours du Mississipi et pais voisins" (1744), Histoire et description générale de la Nouvelle France (Pierre de Charlevoix), or Le Petit Atlas Maritime (1764).
 - Notes: Bellin was the royal hydrographer for the French Navy. His individual octavo- and quarto-sized regional strip maps and river charts are relatively common on the commercial antique market compared to large military manuscripts.
- Nicolas de Fer (1718 / 1719) — Le Cours du Missisipi, ou de Saint Louis / Partie Meridionale de la Riviere de Missisipi
 - Search terms / Variants: De Fer, "Cours du Missisipi", 1718 or 1719, Compagnie d'Occident.
 - Notes: Issued in Paris to promote John Law's Mississippi Company investment scheme, closely following the 1680s–1710s French exploration routes along the eastern bluffs.
- John Senex (1721) — A Map of Louisiana and of the River Mississipi
 - Search terms / Variants: Senex, "Louisiana", 1721, A New General Atlas.
 - Notes: The immediate English translation and re-engraving of Delisle’s 1718 map, preserving French toponyms while translating key descriptive text and routes into English.
- Jean-Baptiste-Louis Franquelin (1684 / 1688) — Carte de la Louisiane
 - Notes: These were original manuscript maps prepared in Quebec for the French court based on La Salle's reports. Original period copies are held in the Bibliothèque nationale de France and French state archives, so commercial listings are almost universally 19th-century lithographic facsimiles (such as those prepared for Francis Parkman's historical works).
- Ignace-François Broutin (1739–1740) — Carte Particulière d'une partie du Fleuve Saint-Louis / Plan du Fort de l'Assomption
 - Notes: Like Franquelin’s drafts, Broutin’s tactical military surveys and fort plans were hand-drawn reconnaissance maps produced for the French Ministry of Marine. They reside in the French colonial archives (Archives nationales d'outre-mer), meaning any commercial occurrences are modern or 19th-century archival reproductions rather than standalone period engravings.
